Burchell's work is of extreme value, as representing the country before its occupation by men of European race. His expedition undertaken at his own cost and convenience, occupied four years, during which period he travelled nearly five thousand miles, exclusive of smaller excursions into regions not previously explored. His journeys took him as far as Lattakoo on the Kuruman River. Besides general information respecting the country and its inhabitants, the Author collected above sixty thousand objects, and made more than 500 drawings of landscapes, portraits, costumes, zoological, botanical, and other objects. Burchell, according to Schater, "was a most skilful and well-trained zoologist and botanist and his observations are all accurate and methodical."
- 40 Butler (Capt. H., 59th Regiment) SOUTH AFRICAN SKETCHES, illustrative of the Wild Life of a Hunter on the Frontier of the Cape Colony, 15 full-page plates, containing 31 drawings, 16 of which are in COLOURS, imp. 4to., cl., Ackermann, 1841 £7 10s

Diary of a voyage to the Cape of Good Hope, preceded by a biography of the Author, followed by remarks and notes on the customs of the Hottentots and Inhabitants of the Cape. From the date of publication of this journal "Kolbe ceased to be considered a standard Author, which was an enormous gain to students of Cape History."
- 44 Camoens.—OS LUSIADS (the LUSIADS), Englished by [Sir] R. F. Burton, with a Commentary on Camoens Life and Lusiads, and a Translation of his Lyricks, 6 vols, cr. 8vo., cl. (not uniform), 1880-84 £4 10s
The discovery of the Cape by Diaz and the Poet's own voyage with Vasco da Gama along the East Coast of Africa are among the subjects of Cantos I. and II. The episode of Adamastor off the Cape, the landing at San Bras, and the discovery of Natal are related in canto five. Sir Richard Burton has added some extremely valuable notes on these and other early discoveries.
- 45 Campbell (Rev. John) TRAVELS in SOUTH AFRICA [1820-21]: being a Narrative of a Second Journey in the Interior of that Country, with folding map and numerous FINE COLOURED AQUATINT PLATES, 2 vols, 8vo., calf, 1822 £2 10s

A vol of specimens of the rock paintings found in the mountainous regions of South Africa. These copies were made sixty years ago when the figures on the rocks were in a better state of preservation than they now are. The plates include pictures of animals and of human beings, groups showing the hunts, dances, and other activities of the Bushman artists. They are accompanied by notes by Miss D. F. Bleek, who has recently visited the originals to compare them with the copies. Explanations of many pictures are given, some of them orally supplied by Bushmen. The majority of the paintings are reproduced in colour, a few in black and white.
- 223 Terry (Edward) A VOYAGE to EAST-INDIA; wherein some Things are taken Notice of in our Passage thither, 3 plates, thk. 12mo., contemporary calf (worn, lacks the map and portrait), 1655 £2 5s

TO BE ISSUED SHORTLY.

- 559 Eaton (General William) The FAILURE of an IDEA, by Francis Rennell Rodd, with 8 plates and maps about 10s 6d
- General Eaton was an eccentric patriot, who made his fame in 1805, by being the first to raise the American flag on Foreign soil. As Consul on the Barbary coast, he finally lost patience with the demands for tribute from the Barbary pirates and led an expedition from Alexandria across the Desert to Derna. He laid siege to the city and conquered it; his march across the Desert is one of the most thrilling military manœuvres in all history. Peace with Tripoli was made behind his back, and his work went for nought.
- Mr. Rodd believes that Eaton's part in the Mediterranean Policy of the United States during the years 1795-1805 has not been properly recognised, and this book is the first attempt to understand the importance of his work.

JUST ISSUED.

- 696 Gordon, the Sudan and Slavery, by Pierre Crabites, with a portrait, 8vo., cl., 1933 12s 6d

Although it is now nearly fifty years since the Khartoum tragedy shocked England and Europe, the name of Gordon, the centenary of whose birth occurs this year, is still familiar to every Englishman, and the nobility and charm of his personality will cause his name to live long on Britain's roll of heroes. His story has often been told; discussion still rages about many aspects of his career and his relations to his contemporaries. The Author of this book concerns himself with the latter portion of his life—his campaign under Khedivial authority for the suppression of the slave-trade, which, with its centre at Khartoum, had reached distressing dimensions and was sapping the Black country of its finest manhood, his retirement as a result of the Egyptian Debt Commission, his return to Egypt to evacuate the Sudan, his astounding and epic stand for ten months in beleaguered Khartoum, and his death at the hands of the Mahdi's followers while awaiting the relief that came, like so much else in his career, "too late."

He fully clears Gordon from the charges made against him by certain recent writers—charges of drunkenness, hot-headedness, ambition, and insubordination. He depicts, in vivid colours, the chief figures of the story—his portrait of the Khedive Ismail, whom he completely frees from the stigma of "spendthrift," which historians have generally attached to him, is specially noteworthy. The tergiversations of the politicians at home in regard to the Khartoum mission are bitingly, though not bitterly exposed. Much use, especially in the story of Gordon's governorship, is made of the General's own journals and letters, full of pen-pictures of the tiniest events of his days on camel-back in the desert. The book is the final vindication of one of the greatest Englishmen of the nineteenth or any century, cruelly belittled as he often has been by those who have failed to understand his real greatness of soul.

- The Author shows that man originated in Africa, and contends that the progress and evolution of the human race can still be studied from the lowest type of original man as he advanced up the scale. These types are still extant in some parts of the world, driven away into mountains and inaccessible forests by the Nilotic Negro, and these again into lands where they have been isolated by the Stellar Cult people into groups, with little or no inter-communication with others, and they have altered very little since the original exodus from Africa.
